Check out FFA Today, a fun and fast-paced show featuring fascinating stories about amazing kids and unique agriculture industries.

How to capture your FFA Event:

The final product will be a 1-4 minute video

We suggest:

- Filming an interview with an FFA member attending the event
- Filming an interview with an organizer, speaker, or industry partner
- Film 5 minutes of general footage at the event...such as the crowd, a speaker on stage, auction items, students participating in a service project, livestock, etc.
- Take 10-20 still photos of the event
- Be aware that wind and background noise will be pretty obvious in the final product, so try to find a quiet place to film interviews

Footage shot with a cell phone should be filmed horizontally

Editing:

- You are not required to edit your video. Send your component pieces to FFA Today and we can do the touch-ups
- If you do edit...please use lyrical music only and no graphics
- When you submit your video, include the names and titles of anyone interviewed

WE NEED FFA ALUMNI TOO!

Send us your 1-2 minute videos with advice for current members, how you use FFA skills in your profession, or your favorite memory of FFA.
